

BONE-BEARING UPPER TRIASSIC OF THE UPPER SILESIA, SOUTHERN POLAND: INTEGRATED STRATIGRAPHY, FACIES AND EVENTS

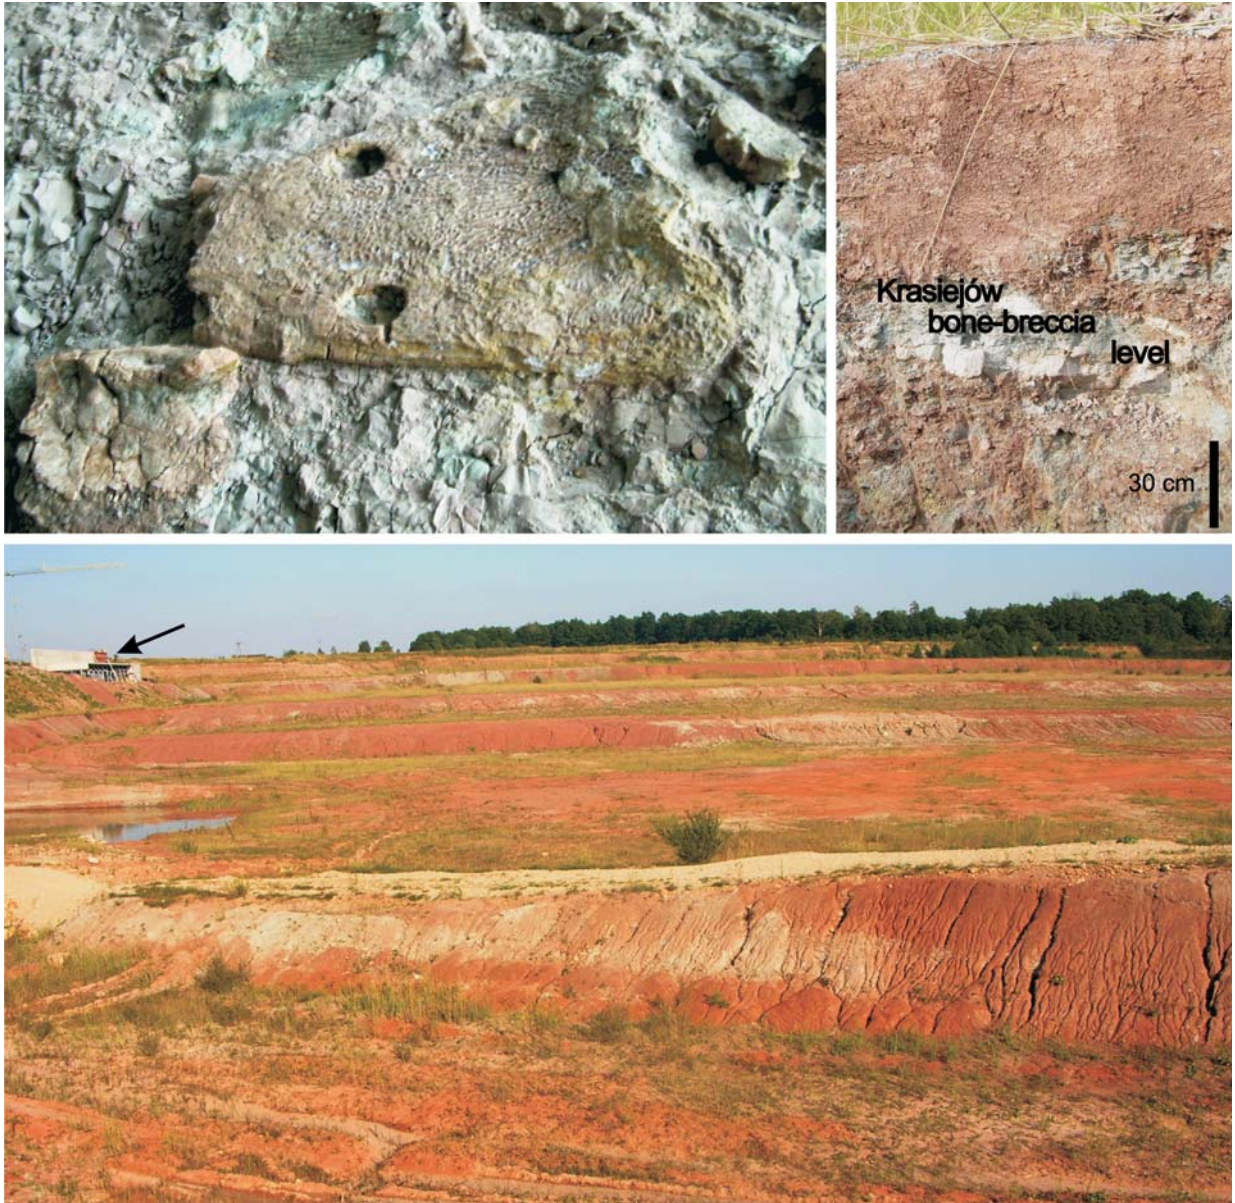

Guest Editors

Grzegorz RACKI and Joachim SZULC

The present issue contains results of the research project, founded by the Ministry of Science and Higher Education, Poland (grant no. N307117037 to Grzegorz Racki)

Kraków 2015

General view of the outcrop at the abandoned Krasiejów clay pit, with the Opolo University palaeontological pavilion under construction (arrowed in lower photograph, taken by Michał Matysik in 2005), and the bone-breccia horizon exposed therein, with numerous hard parts of the amphibian Metoposaurus krasiejowiensis in this graveyard, exemplified by a skull about 30 cm in length (upper photographs, taken by Anthonie Hellemond).